With reference to your note of the 21st, I should be happy to see you whenever you are in Washington. However, my schedule on Mondays and Tuesdays is usually a bit more elastic than during the remainder of the week and if you plan to come on Monday, 27 October, I suggest 3:00 P.M., or I could see you at 11:00 A.M. on Tuesday, 28 October.

STAT

In the event either of these dates is inconvenient for you, if you will call my office — [redacted] — a mutually convenient time can be arranged.

Sincerely,

Walter B. Smith
Director

Dear Sir,

My father told me of your invitation to see you in Washington in the near future to talk over job possibilities in CIA and related organizations.

Naturally, I am delighted at the opportunity to do so. I will be glad to come to Washington at any time within the next ten days or two weeks, or later, whenever it is convenient for you to see me.
